After four years they still won't come to class meetings, but who cares.
This year's senior class has been called the end of the old Rosary and the beginning of the new Rosary.
But then that's another story.
Juniors take it away.

LECTURES ON CAMPUS

Ralph Nader, called the nations toughest consumer, spoke at the Rosary College Auditorium first semester.

After his lecture, which dealt primarily with consumer activism, Nader spoke to members of the Rosary community.

Nader feels strongly that in order for the American consumer to get the quality of goods that he has paid for, he must be educated in consumerism.

FEBRUARY 15, 1972

Dear Editor, Apathy n. pl., - thies 1 - lack of emotion 2. indifference: lack of interest. Apathy is a spirit that encircles Rosary like The commuter arrives at 9 am, goes to classes, watches television, plays pool, drinks coke or tab, depending on whether or not she is on a diet. The same routine drags on day after day. It is very easy for a student to get caught up in the meaningless trivia of living and neglect those aspects of life that make the difference in school and out of school. The answer is participation. A person who approaches life on a mediocre basis lacks quality. Everyone hears everyone complain about power and those who hold it. The people who complain the most do the least. This school has a multitude of talents and voices of opinion. Must Rosary survive on the actions of a rare few who participate? Let's not let sleeping dogs lie. Diane Barrington

Dear Editor, Last week the extension of parietal hours from the present 1-5 pm on Saturday and Sunday afternoons was once again defeated by Dorm Council is made up of resident students who represent the resident population of the college.

To date, DC has no written jurisdiction or limit to its power, but for all practical purposes they are under the thumb of Kathy O'Connor, Resident Director, who is in turn under the thumb of S. Joan O'Shea, Dean of Students. If Dorm Council truly represents the residents, some changes must be made, including: 1)a consensus must be made to determine what residents want. 2)Dorm Council must determine what they can and cannot do within the framework of the administration. and 3)students must be made aware of the actions of Dorm Council as well as its members. - Dorothy Smith
